

A user would only have one profile (if at all depending on the user-type), however, they may have many projects, articles or pieces of a project and they may also have many comments and messages related to their posts or to other user posts.

Each category is defined for the purpose of the post form selection menu to relate content to the relevant view.
***Not sure this is necessary.

Each piece of a project will be assigned to a profile and one project, but there may be more than one piece to a project.

***The challenge is to create the respective references for all of the collections.